

RHM heart set on Valentine's gala

Ronald Hawkins rhawkins@reportert.com

January 30, 2010

MARTINSVILLE

Rediscover Historic Martinsville representatives are hoping residents will find its first Martinsville Matters Valentine's Gala on Feb. 13 at the Art Sanctuary too sweet a deal to pass up.

For $30 in advance and $35 at the door, couples will receive dinner provided by Water to Wine Catering and hear music by the Nostalgia Band featuring Frank Battaglia, a big brass band, according to RHM Vice President John Badger.

The doors will open at 7 p.m. for socializing, according to organizers, followed by the dinner. A flower will be provided for women in attendance.

"This is a fundraiser to help offset some of our other costs," Badger said.

In addition to food and music, the event will include a silent auction with materials provided by artists and merchants, Badger said. The meal will include two entrees, a choice of sides and dessert.

Tickets are available at Blackwell Antiques, the Martinsville Candy Kitchen, the Greater Martinsville Chamber of Commerce and Water to Wine. The Art Sanctuary's address is 190 N. Sycamore St.

Copyright: Reporter-Times.com/MD-Times.com 2010